Project Category/Topic: AI

1 Project Aim:

- Create a summary website with a similar interface to the target news website, such as a mock version of the Sky news
- Automatically extract news content and generate concise summaries
- Provide users with a similar experience to a real news website, but with a refined summary of the content
- With the massive growth of news and information, it is difficult for people to obtain important information quickly. By providing summaries, we help users digest content more efficiently.
- Unlike traditional news summary apps, this project also provides a unique user interface experience similar to the real news websites, thereby increasing user interaction and engagement.
